Theriogenology Physiology Biochemistry Microbiology Parasitology Pharmacology. PHS Biochemistry and General Embryology. General Embryology Gametogenesis, fertilization, cleavage, gastrulation, fetal membranes, placenta. -07-. Course: Avian and Fish Anatomy Code: AHE:106 Credit hours: 3 Contents: Avian Anatomy Skeletal, Digestive, Respiratory and Urogenital system. Anatomy. Macroscopic features. Small Intestine. The small intestine is a specialized tubular structure within the abdominal cavity in continuity with the stomach proximally and the colon distally. The small bowel increases in length from about 250 cm in the full-term newborn to 600 to 800 cm in the adult. EMBRYOLOGY. The embryo begins the third week of development as a bilaminar germ disk. During week three, in a process called gastrulation, this disk becomes a trilaminar disk. The surface facing the yolk sac becomes the definitive endoderm; the surface facing the amniotic sac becomes the ectoderm. The middle layer is called mesoderm. The long axis and left-right axis of the embryo also are established at this time.
