To disable commenting manually, find the image in the WordPress Media Library and edit the image. Once the Edit Media page has loaded for the image you will need to first display the Discussion box if it's not already displayed. To do this, click on Screen Options at the top right hand side of the page and then click the checkbox next to the word Discussion. Once you've done that, scroll to the bottom of the page and find the Discussion box and uncheck Allow Comments. And now, all that's left to do is to hit the Update button and you're done. Wrapping It Up. This isn't the perfect solution to return `$author ; }` Your results may of course vary depending on your installation and whatever particular requirements you may have added 1) for commenting (i.e., "anyone" vs "registered only") and 2) for signing up (are First and Last Name required to register?). Additionally, in a full installation, you might want to adjust the user profile page, where the user selects a "display name." If you're going to display firstname/lastname instead then it'd be best to deal with that one way or another - by restricting choices, for example, or by adjusting label Upload your media. Re-enable comments for new posts if you wish. Method 2: Close Comments on Each Media or Attachment Pages Individually. It's possible to go to post details page of each media or attachment, and disable their comments and/or trackbacks and pingbacks feature. Go to Media -> Library. Open each media, and then go to Edit more details link. If you have hundreds or thousands of media uploaded with comments opened, unfortunately, WordPress does not provide an easy way to close the comments on media attachments page for existing media. However, WordPress API provides hooks which can be used to close and disable the comments features on all media pages and attachments globally and automatically.

def comments = ComponentAccessor.commentManager.getComments(issue) if (comments) { return comments.last().authorFullName }
