This isn't used for books either. L. learningchayse. Senior Member. Chinese. Even though my books are available in both eBook and print, most people still prefer a book they can put in their hands and feel. If you're going to read eBooks, I suggest you invest in a dedicated eBook reading device rather than having to read on your pc. That way you can read anywhere you want, just like with a printed book. Reading devices are a LOT cheaper now than they were a year ago, too. I use demo eBook versions to give readers the opportunity to read the first 4 to 10 chapters of my books so they don't have to spend any money to find if the book is right for them.
