A holistic approach in learning and teaching is about helping children learn the purpose of why something needs to be learnt, what is that they are learning, how it's gonna be used in real life, how it's connected to the learner's life etc. Such learning approaches involve all the senses, it's much more than just memorizing and writing about something. It's more about connecting the concept to the real life of a learner. It's about understanding the purpose of life through connections to the community, values and nature. Project based learning is one example of Holistic Approach, where you ma
