Fun fact: 1939 was also the year Batman first appeared, and he's still awesome today, too). Versatility, technical excellence and a captivating style are the RWB's trademarks, and their dedication to all of this keeps the dancers in demand around the globe. They give more than 150 performances every season! It makes me so proud that this world-class company calls our city home. The Royal Winnipeg Ballet is one of the world's premier dance companies. Based in Winnipeg, Manitoba, it is Canada's oldest ballet company and the longest continuously operating ballet company in North America. It was founded in 1939 as the "Winnipeg Ballet Club" by Gweneth Lloyd and Betty Farrally. The name was changed to the "Winnipeg Ballet" in 1941 and the company began touring Canada in 1945. In 1948, with the initiative of the Winnipeg Ballet, the Canadian Ballet Festival was formed.

For the first time in its 60-year history, Canada's National Ballet School (NBS) will be graduating more male students than female. The class of 2020 at the Toronto-based academy is comprised of 16 boys and 11 girls. The insinuation that boys should not enjoy ballet was not well received by the dance community, with luminaries like Debbie Allen and Travis Walls upbraiding Spencer and #boysdancetoo trending on social media. Outside GMA's Times Square studios, a group of male dancers conducted a massive ballet class. In the next episode, Spencer apologized for her comments, which she called "stupid and insensitive." "I have learned the bravery it takes for a young boy to pursue a career in dance," she wrote on Instagram. Caution: Fraudulent websites promoting tickets to the Royal Winnipeg Ballet's Nutcracker. Please be aware that there are several fraudulent websites and online ads that are promoting tickets to performances of the RWB's Nutcracker. 'Tis the night before Christmas and all through Clara's house, everything and everyone is stirring - even the mice! The people inside are getting ready for the big Christmas party - cooking and wrapping and dressing and fussing. Twelve-year-old Clara is oblivious to all the noise and confusion. She's dreaming in front of the mirror in her bedroom, practicing her ballet steps. She wants to be perfect when she dances for her glamorous Aunt Josephine, a singer who has traveled all the way from Montreal on the train. Mama interrupts.
